Were they robbers and murderers? Or were this shoemaker and fish peddler the victims of anti-immigrant, anti-Italian and anti-leftist prejudice? It happened in 1920 in Braintree, Massachusetts, but could it happen today in Chicago, Illinois? Come listen to two "dead men talking," and decide for yourself.

Tickets $10.00/$5.00 students. (Loyola students, faculty & staff free with Loyola I.D.)

...a theatre born of a shared past, serving the present, shaping the future...
